

Talking About Israel

Building an Inclusive Community

Do you find it challenging to talk about Israel? Are disagreements over Israeli and U.S. policy dividing your community?

There is another way. In fact, as Jews, we have much more in common than our minor points of contention. We can bring our community together and unite against the external assault on Israel's legitimacy, while respecting and learning from different voices and viewpoints.

- Public Speaking: Keynote addresses, rallies, guest presentations
- Education: Workshops, classes, interactive seminars, training sessions, discussion groups
- Consulting: Political campaigns, community action, policy development, communication strategy, grassroots engagement

About Nevet

Born and raised in Israel, Nevet Basker moved to the U.S. and enjoyed a successful career as a high-tech manager. Inspired by a love of Israel and concern for the future of the Jewish people, she has become a powerful voice in the fields of political activism, education and public speaking on Israeli-Palestinian issues.

Nebet is the publisher of Broader View Israel Resource Center, advisor to political candidates, co-founder of a regional not-for-profit education organization, and an accomplished speaker, writer, and community organizer. She holds three degrees from leading American and Israeli universities.

"Attending a talk or a workshop by Nevet Basker is a life-changing event. She has a special talent for gathering in people from all sides of the ideological spectrum and uniting them through education, understanding and shared values. Her insights are bold, surprising and new, and help guide those in attendance through the maze of Israel-Palestine issues to see essential truths more clearly than ever before." –Robert Wilkes, Writer and political activist
